

January 20th Luncheon - Webinar

Speaker: Cameron Bing

Topic: How does the COGCC Mission Change Rulemaking affect the surface use and surface use agreements?

Cameron Ming has extensive land and surface land experience throughout the United States. While in Colorado, he has worked the San Juan Basin, Piceance Basin, and the DJ/Niobrara Basin.

Working closely with local and state governments, Cameron has influenced regulation on behalf of industry. He has then implemented processes to effect those changes for the companies he has worked with.

Cameron graduated with degrees from Brigham Young University and University of Tulsa College of Law. He currently lives in Aurora, CO and works for Crestone Peak Resources.

In his spare time he likes run in the mountains and ski.

JOIN IN --- COGA's Oil and Gas #TakeoutBlitz

To start 2021 out with a bang, COGA is organizing an Oil and Gas #TakeoutBlitz on January 13. As we continue to deal with COVID-19, the idea is to show that oil and gas continues to support our economy, and that we care about other businesses and workers.

Join us for an Oil and Gas #TakeoutBlitz on January 13. To support our friends and neighbors and to show our continued commitment to our local economies, we're asking oil and gas employees to order their favorite takeout food from a local restaurant on January 13. The #takeoutblitz easy as 1-2-3, simply follow these steps:

1. Visit your favorite restaurant in person, if possible, or call and tell them you work in oil and gas and would like to support their restaurant by ordering takeout.
2. When you pick up your order, snap a picture of the restaurant or your food and post it to your social media accounts using these hashtags and suggested messaging.

Proud to work in #oilandgas and proud to support local restaurants.

#takeoutblitz #DAPL #energyproud #energystrong

Eat. And then share other posts you see under those hashtags.

Officers Forum - Director

Greetings Members,

Well, that was crazy. Congratulations folks, we made it to 2021!

I'm pleased to be writing you as DAPL Director as we turn a new leaf with a renewed sense of resilience and endurance. Things may continue to look a little different than the world we knew prior to the spring of 2020, but with an impressive group of committees, who do most of this organization's heavy lifting, an innovative board and a dedicated core membership, I'm confident this will be a year to remember.

There are a few upcoming events to mark on your calendars. First, the DAPL's Advocacy Committee is kicking off their first Advocacy Book Club, via Zoom, on January 13th. This should be a great way to find connection and discuss great topics outside of COVID-19 and the 2020 election.

Next, the Education Committee has organized some fresh material for our January 20th Luncheon/Webinar; Cameron Ming will be discussing The Evolution of SUA's. The Education Committee continues to impress with their ability to navigate the current state of inflection. Until this committee completes its review of all the 2021 fine print disclaimers and deems in-person gatherings appropriate, luncheons/webinars will continue to be hosted virtually.

Also, stay tuned for this year's Ski Day plans. The Ski Day Committee is jumping through all the hoops to make this great social event happen in March.

Hope to see more of you all this year, friends.

Cheers,

Shelly Albrecht

DAPL BOOK CLUB ZOOM HAPPY HOUR (Link to join on 1/13 is below)

The DAPL Advocacy Committee is Excited to Announce its First Advocacy Book Club! Every two months the Advocacy Committee will pick a book of an industry advocate to discuss via an online book club (until we can meet in person). So pick up a copy of the book (currently free on Kindle), pour your favorite beverage, and join us for a lively discussion of what you thought about the author's take. We will have moderators and small group discussions to keep the discussion interesting. This month's choice is a short book so you should have plenty of time to review before our meeting.

2020 DAPL Community Service Award

Janet Rost

Janet grew up in the oil industry, daughter of a Texas A&M Petroleum Engineering graduate who started his own operating company in Houston, Texas. As a young girl, he would take Janet and her sister to West Texas to visit well sites. She went to University of Texas and studied Architecture. She was married to a landman who moved her from Texas to Denver in 1978 and there she accidentally ended up in the oil business to fill in as a draftsman in the land department of a Hunt family oil company, Impel Energy. The switch from architecture to land and geological drafting work was an easy decision since it paid twice what architectural drafting paid at the time. She ran a successful oil & gas drafting company for 20 years and through her connections in the industry, she worked her way into being a landman when her son went to college in 2004.

She is unique in that she's always been an independent landman working directly for many companies both in house and in the field. The list includes Great Western Oil & Gas Co., Anadarko Petroleum, EOG Resources, SRC Energy, and Liberty Oil Company among others. She's worked for numerous brokers and managed to stay busy for many years in every basin of the Rockies and the Southwest.

She serves on the Regulatory/Advocacy Committee and the Education Committee; she is the past Treasurer of the Executive Board and is now a co-chair of the Finance and Planning Committee of the DAPL. Janet is a fierce advocate of our industry and our jobs.

The environmental movement has changed the narrative on our future and our industry has been under attack with the false Climate Crisis mantra. Becoming informed of the reality of what 'keep it in the ground' will do to our economy and ways of life has been a longtime mission for Janet, spending the last 15 years learning about the impacts of energy and fighting to keep our industry alive. She started educating her friends and anyone who would listen to her about why we need oil and gas, why fracking isn't bad, why we need to keep the small independent companies going, and how this industry is a vital part of our economy.

Writing letters to her representatives during all the legislative battles of recent times, manning phone banks along with roomfuls of industry people to get out the vote, using social media to educate people who think we should stop producing oil and gas entirely. She has met with her state representatives to share her knowledge of why we are an important part of our state's healthy economy. She worked especially hard testifying to our state legislature against 181, writing letters almost daily to representatives, talking to people on the streets downtown in defense of our industry, and testifying to the COGCC in many meetings on the positives of our industry and why we cannot let it be legislated away.

Janet has been committed to helping the community around her for the past 15 years and continues to be an example of how members of the oil and gas industry should go about creating the change that we want to see in our state.

2020 DAPL Committee Member of the Year Award

Todd Ritchie

This year's Committee Member of the Year, Todd Ritchie, co-chaired one of DAPL's most important and most exciting DAPL events- the 36th Annual Clay Shoot. The Clay Shoot, held in August, was the first in-person DAPL event since the lock down in early March. This event can be a daunting task to take over and execute in your first year chairing it, especially with this year's additional complications, but Todd managed to pull off an excellent event in both member safety and member engagement. In 2020, there were 157 participants registered for the event, which ended up generating a profit for DAPL and most impressively, raised over $2,200 for the DAPL Scholarship Fund. Despite the hurdles that 2020 brought us, the DAPL was still able to hold a successful event, and much of that was due to Todd's execution.

Although Todd has lived in Colorado for 10 years, he was born and raised in West Virginia and still calls it home. After growing up in his beloved West Virginia, Todd went to school for IT and Business but, like many of us, he ended up stumbling upon Land work. Todd has been in the industry for over 15 years with experience in everything from being a Title Abstractor to a Landman and has worked in countless areas including the Williston, the DJ Basin, San Juan Basin, Uinta Basin, Appalachia, Illinois and more. He currently works at UP Energy, LLC as a Senior Landman. Todd is a CPL and is a great person to work with.

Todd has been married to Britt Ritchie for 13 years and they have two sons together Dylan (6) and Logan (11). When Todd isn't working or volunteering tirelessly for the DAPL he enjoys being outside, hunting, mountain biking, and spending time with his family.

The DAPL was honored to have his presence and leadership to pull off a fantastic 2020 Clay Shoot.

"I am excited and humbled to have been recognized for the Committee Member of the Year award by the Denver Association of Petroleum Landmen. Under usual circumstances it may be a bit cliché, but the 2020 DAPL Annual Clay Shoot truly would not have occurred without the support of others. So, while I graciously accept this award, I want to extend a heartfelt thank you to the DAPL Board, DAPL members, previous event chair, numerous volunteers and the many corporate and event sponsors who made this year's Clay Shoot possible. I am grateful and inspired to be part of an organization that had so many step up in support of its members, particularly under the circumstances 2020 has presented each of us with. Thank You!"

-M. Todd Ritchie

2020 DAPL President's Award

Thomas Porter

Honored to present Thomas Porter with a 2020 DAPL President's Award. Over the last several years, Thomas has volunteered significant hours for DAPL across the education committee and serving on the board. Thomas's involvement co-chairing the education committee has been instrumental in the continued improvement of the committee's event planning and speakers. Thomas brings fresh ideas and an unmatched energy to every board meeting starting with his contagious smile that fills the room.

Thomas is currently a Senior Land Negotiator for Occidental Petroleum Corporation (Oxy) in Denver, CO where he works the DJ basin. Prior to working at Oxy, Thomas was a Landman at ConocoPhillips Company in Houston, TX. His community involvement includes serving on the board and education committee for the Denver Association of Petroleum Landmen and board member for The University of Tulsa Alumni Association. He is a member of the American Association of Professional Landmen and American Association of Blacks in Energy.

When he is not working from home or serving his community, you will most likely find Thomas coaching indoor cycling for Cyclebar in the downtown Denver area. Thomas graduated from The University of Tulsa with a business degree in Energy Management and Finance.

2020 DAPL Education Award

Bresee Carlson

This year's Education Award Winner, Bresee Carlson, is known by all of her colleagues to have a passion and commitment to the education of her colleagues and to industry outsiders alike. Carlson plays a key role in the DAPL as the Education Committee Co-chair. Carlson works tirelessly to set up monthly DAPL luncheon topics, ensures members' AAPL and CLE credits are maintained, organizes fantastic speakers, and handles all logistical details like finding new spaces for the DAPL to use for education events and maintains the DAPL contractual obligations to these spaces, and more. Not only is Bresee's work imperative for the DAPL to run smoothly, she is also an active participant in DAPL events and has even presented for the DAPL on topics like "Nuts and Bolts of Federal Minerals" and "An Overview of Royalty Payment Accounts."

Currently Bresee is a Partner at Kuiper Law Firm, although her "extra-curricular" volunteering could be considering another couple of jobs in and of themselves. Since Bresee isn't a Landman by training or occupation, the amount of time and work she contributes to the DAPL and to the oil and gas industry as a whole is even more amazing. This fact shows her willingness and commitment to interact with and promote the industry.

Outside of the DAPL, Bresee has recently accepted a position as a professor at Western Colorado University in their Energy Management Program. Bresee plans to restructure the curriculum to make the content accessible for students and to help maintain a strong AAPL accredited program. Also, because she wasn't busy enough, Bresee recently became a Board Member of Energy Strong, a foundation whose mission is to unify blue and white-collar workers throughout the oil and gas industry, and to educate others about the benefits of the advancement of natural resource exploration and extraction the US.

Bresee Carlson's work throughout the industry has been monumental, especially during a year where so many road blocks presented themselves. Despite these challenges, Bresee's creativity and passion for the energy industry helped the Education Committee hold monthly virtual luncheon's and led an informative Fall Land Institute Webinar Series. Bresee Carlson's contribution to education, not only through DAPL, but throughout our entire community, has been critical for many years, and because of this, no one is more deserving of the 2020 DAPL Education Award.

2020 DAPL President's Award

Malinda Morain

Honored to present Malinda Morain with a 2020 DAPL President's Award. Malinda is an example of someone who works behind the scenes at DAPL, yet her contributions have been extremely valuable to the association for many years. Malinda also keeps our members informed through the advocacy committee and recently introduced an industry-related book club virtual networking event.

Malinda is an energy litigator focusing on commercial litigation and regulatory issues on public lands. Malinda counsels upstream and midstream clients on federal regulatory issues, oil and gas royalty disputes, and energy-related commercial litigation at the district and appellate court levels in state and federal courts. Malinda is a "big law firm refugee" who is thankful for her start at a New York law firm but has enjoyed the transition to Colorado and the opportunity to interact with her clients with boots on the ground.

Malinda has leveraged her role as an advocate and storyteller for her clients in the courtroom into an advocate for the industry through her work as Co-Chair of the DAPL Advocacy Committee. She also uses her skills as a writer (and a very hands-on editor) into overseeing the From a Legal Perspective articles for the Rocky Mountain landmen. Malinda also counsels DAPL on contract review and other legal issues as they arise. Mostly, she's just happy that the DAPL "cool kids" still let her hang, and hopes to do so for years to come.

2020 DAPL Landman of the Year

Matt Smith

The 2020 Landman of the Year, Matt Smith, got his start in the oil and gas industry in 1996, when he began his career as a Field Landman after graduating from Texas Tech University. In 2001, he took a job with El Paso Production in Houston, Texas as an in-house landman working the Gulf Coast of Texas. He left El Paso Production in 2003 to work as a Field Landman. In 2005, EOG Resources, Inc. hired Matt as a Landman to work in the Fort Worth, Texas Division Office and since then they couldn't get rid of him. In the past 15 years, EOG Resources has recognized Matt's hard work and dedication to the industry and has moved him across the country multiple times.

Matt has been an active member of American Association of Professional Landmen (AAPL) since 1998 and became a Certified Professional Landman in 2005. Matt currently serves as a Director for the Denver Association of Petroleum Landmen and is a Trustee for the AAPL Landman Scholarship Trust. From 2018 to 2019, Matt served as a Committee Chairman for the AAPL Industry/Public Relations Committee. From 2015 to 2017 Matt served on the AAPL Membership Committee as Assistant Chairman and Chairman and from 2012 to 2013 he served as Treasurer on AAPL's Executive Committee. He served on the NAPE Operator's Committee from 2011 to 2012, the AAPL Education Committee from 2011 to 2012 and served as a committee member for the AAPL Southwest Land Institute from 2007 to 2012. He served on the AAPL Certification Committee from 2006 to 2011, the last two years as Assistant Chairman and Chairman. Matt is a past member of the Fort Worth Association of Professional Landmen (FWAPL). He was a member of the FWAPL Executive Committee, Chairman of the FWAPL Scholarship Committee and served on the Golf Tournament Committee and Skeet Shoot Committee. Matt is also a member of the Houston Association of Professional Landmen.

In 2018, Matt moved to Denver, Colorado to serve as the Division Land Manager for the Western U.S. and Canada. Since arriving in Denver, Matt has been committed to connecting with new colleagues in the industry and serving the oil and gas community here. In his short time in Denver, Matt has made a great name for himself. He is known by his coworkers as a talented leader who is very skilled in his position and "treats work like war" (-anonymous co-worker). When coming to a new city, it's easy to take a back seat and go unnoticed, but Matt became involved with the DAPL as soon as he made the move. Unfortunately for us, Matt's home state of Texas has recently called him back home. EOG Resources moved Matt to Midland, Texas to serve as the Division Land Manager for the area. Matt's commitment to his community and the oil and gas industry as a whole will be missed greatly by the DAPL, but Midland will be lucky to have his expertise and energy.

"It is an honor and privilege to be named DAPL's Landman of the Year. In my short time in Denver the DAPL has been a great resource for networking and educational opportunities. The members of DAPL are not only welcoming but they are professional people that want what's best for the organization and our industry. Thank you for this honor."
-Matt Smith

2020 DAPL Lifetime Achievement Award

Colleen Kennedy

The 2020 Lifetime Achievement Award Winner, Colleen Kennedy, got her start in the oil and gas industry in the 1980's at Amoco Production Company. As a Denver native and a graduate from the University of Colorado, she was excited to make a name for herself as a Landman in her hometown, and she did just that. Even in the male dominated field that the oil and gas industry was in the 80's, Colleen was determined to succeed and remains one of the top Land Professionals in the Denver area.

After working at Amoco for 15 years and gaining expansive knowledge in various Rockies basins, she moved onto other Denver companies, like Presco Western LLC and Bill Barrett Corporation, where she consistently proved herself as a tremendous leader and mentor to everyone who got the privilege to work alongside of her. As the Land Manager for many different areas including the DJ, Appalachian, Williston and Powder River Basins, Colleen always ran her assets efficiently by problem solving and guiding her teammates with steadfast leadership.

Colleen Kennedy has been apart of many notable deals in the oil and gas industry, in which she always utilized her dedication to precision so that the job would always be done the right way. Colleen managed several multi-million-dollar dispositions in the Rockies region and maintained critical relations with the MHA Tribe to efficiently develop assets in the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation. Most recently, Colleen lead her team at Occidental Petroleum Company to close a $1.33-billion-dollar deal with Orion Mine Finance, in which Oxy divested assets in Wyoming, Colorado and Utah. This key sale was a major contributor to Oxy's 2020 target of $2 billion dollar plus in divestments over the year. Her co-workers were grateful for her leadership and knowledge during this massive sale.

Colleen is not only known for her skills in the Land Profession, but she is also known for her caring nature towards everyone she works with. Colleen is one of the greatest team players, in every sense of the word. She will guide you through any problems you may be faced with, work-related or not. Colleen is loyal and one of the best mentors in the Denver area. Colleen employs the perfect mixture of encouragement and tough-love to challenge you to be the best person and employee you can be.

Colleen Kennedy has worked hard throughout her career to leave a legacy of honest, good work. Throughout her career she became known for doing the dirty work. She has never backed down from a problem and has always finished the job the right way. Anyone who has been lucky enough to work with her has been impacted greatly by her positive attitude, passion for the industry, and her unwavering integrity.

"It is with a humble heart and enormous gratitude that I accept the Lifetime Achievement Award from the DAPL. I am truly honored.

Certainly no one gets to where I sit today without the support of many great colleagues and mentors along the way. I am grateful to each and every one of them for giving me the opportunity to learn from their achievements and their failures and to help me understand the importance of grit and determination in a fluctuating industry. I know that they would join me in my admiration of the fine people who make their life's work in the energy business.

What a long and fascinating journey it has been. Thanks to all of you and to the DAPL for being a part of mine!"
-Colleen M. Kennedy

President's Report. Reported by Tyler Aylor.

Corporate Sponsorship. Tabatha to upload Google Sheet of past/potential Corporate Sponsors ("CSs").

Benefits Flyer. Detailing perks of Corporate Sponsorship. Tyler to send out today. Defer to Education Committee regarding monetizing luncheons amid COVID concerns. Stay virtual for foreseeable future – to be low cost or no cost to members but not for non-members. Since there is no longer free luncheon pass for CSs due to COVID, maybe we offer free memberships to CSs based on sponsorship level. Gil – work in conjunction with Ski Day Committee for CS benefits. Tyler to update flyer. Will incorporate disclaimer language that CS benefits are not guaranteed because things may have to change as the COVID situation evolves. DAPL will work to add value as appropriate. Gil – maybe add more tiers to CS options, e.g. less expensive options. Ed – the idea is to have fewer CSs at higher price point. More cost effective and easier to manage. Need to monitor this and perhaps make changes at a future date.

CS Appreciation Event. Gil – last year we had an appreciation dinner for CSs. Had/has an impact on future sponsorship. This year we should host a virtual event. Could be a wine tasting or cocktail making class. First half of December. Need to discuss budget and offering to CSs. Likely to be on a Thursday. Turnaround time to vet options and execute plan should be relatively quick. Bresee – reach out to local winemakers to get more for less? Jason – has contacts for this that he will reach out to. Thomas – room feature on Zoom works well if there is a networking component to the event.

Education Committee. Reported by Bresee Carlson.

- FLI went well. Good feedback thus far.
- One more luncheon in 2020 (November) – Topic: overlapping DSUs and TX allocation wells
- Wait and see approach to in-person luncheons in 2021
- Partnerships with Dallas and Austin associations appear to be working well. Inciting participation.
- Encourage student participation in DAPL events. Bresee would like to spearhead this campaign.
- Crosby – FLI survey – please participate and provide feedback on format/content when prompted
- Content library for members as a perk? Austin association has a similar platform. Options/costs/benefits to be researched.

Golf Tournament Committee. Reported by Armando Trevino. Event well very well. Great turnout. Nice contribution to scholarship fund.

Ski Day Committee. Reported by Courtney Ahuja. Need to figure out which resort and how they will handle health and safety requirements. DAPL will not offer transportation. Maybe DAPL-only this year (no SPE). Still early to start fundraising. Any après ski event will be outdoors.

Miscellaneous. Thomas/Tyler – Nominate people for awards ASAP.

Pres. Tyler Aylor adjourned the meeting at 12:15 PM MT

In Memoriam

Hill, Jerry Paul

Dec 12, 1932 - Dec 26, 2020

Jerry Paul Hill grew up in Whitehouse, TX. He graduated from Tyler High School in 1950, graduated Tyler Junior College in 1952, and graduated with a Bachelor of Business Administrations from Texas Western College El Paso, Texas in 1954. He served in the United States Army. Moved to Denver, CO in the early 1970's and opened his business, Jerry P. Hill Inc. Professional Land Services.

Jerry moved to Sarasota to retire in 2001. He loved the outdoors-camping in the summer and skiing in winter and also bicycling. He was active in the Opera- A director of Denver Opera. He also enjoyed hosting dinner parties with his partner of 40 years.
